COLONY HIGH SCHOOL STUDENT-ATHLETE NAMED GATORADE® ALASKA BOYS BASKETBALL PLAYER OF THE YEAR

CHICAGO (March 15, 2019) — In its 34th year of honoring the nation's best high school athletes, The Gatorade Company today announced Sullivan Menard of Colony High School as its 2018-19 Gatorade Alaska Boys Basketball Player of the Year. Menard is the second Gatorade Alaska Boys Basketball Player of the Year to be chosen from Colony High School.

The award, which recognizes not only outstanding athletic excellence, but also high standards of academic achievement and exemplary character demonstrated on and off the field, distinguishes Menard as Alaska's best high school boys basketball player. Now a finalist for the prestigious Gatorade National Boys Basketball Player of the Year award to be announced in March, Menard joins an elite alumni association of past state boys basketball award winners, including Karl-Anthony Towns (2012-13 & 2013-14, St. Joseph High School, N.J.), Dwight Howard (2003-04, Southwest Atlanta Christian Academy, Ga.), Chris Bosh (2001-02, Lincoln High School, Texas), Paul Pierce (1994-95, Inglewood High School, Calif.), Chauncey Billups (1993-94 & 1994-95, George Washington High School, Colo.) and Jason Kidd (1991-92, St. Joseph Notre Dame High School, Calif.).

The 6-foot-3, 180-pound senior guard had led the Knights to a 25-3 record and a berth in the Class 4A quarterfinals at the time of his selection. Menard averaged 15.8 points, 5.1 rebounds, 3.8 assists and 3.1 steals through 28 games. The Northern Lights Conference co-Player of the Year, he was MVP of the Doc Larson Roundball Classic and the Alaska Airlines Classic, and was a Second Team All-State selection as a junior.

Menard has volunteered locally as a youth leader with his church. "Menard can score, rebound, pass and he's a little gritty," said Josh Muehlenkamp, head coach at West Anchorage High. "He plays and competes the whole time, and he's got a real edge to him. He's long and athletic and he really gets after it on the defensive end too."

Menard has maintained a 4.02 GPA in the classroom. He will attend DePaul University this fall, where he will play basketball.

The Gatorade Player of the Year program annually recognizes one winner in the District of Columbia and each of the 50 states that sanction high school football, girls volleyball, boys and girls cross country, boys and girls basketball, boys and girls soccer, baseball, softball, and boys and girls track & field, and awards one National Player of the Year in each sport. The selection process is administered by the Gatorade Player of the Year Selection Committee, which work with top sport-specific experts and a media advisory board of accomplished, veteran prep sports journalists to determine the state winners in each sport.

Menard joins Gatorade Alaska Boys Basketball Players of the Year Tobin Karlberg (2017-18, Grace Christian High School), Austin White (2016-17, Ninilchik High School), and Kamaka Hepa (2015-16 & 2014-15, Barrow High School) among the state's list of former award winners.

As a part of Gatorade's cause marketing platform "Play it Forward," Menard also has the opportunity to award a $1,000 grant to a local or national youth sports organization of his choosing. He is also eligible to submit an essay to win one of twelve $10,000 spotlight grants for the organization of choice, which will be announced throughout the year.

Since the program's inception in 1985, Gatorade Player of the Year award recipients have won hundreds of professional and college championships, and many have also turned into pillars in their communities, becoming coaches, business owners and educators.
