KAMEHAMEHA SCHOOLS-KAPALAMA HIGH SCHOOL STANDOUT NAMED GATORADE HAWAII BOYS CROSS COUNTRY RUNNER OF THE YEAR

CHICAGO (January 16, 2014) — In its 29th year of honoring the nation's best high school athletes, The Gatorade Company, in collaboration with USA TODAY High School Sports, today announced Davis Kaahanui of Kamehameha Schools-Kapalama High School as its 2013-14 Gatorade Hawaii Boys Cross Country Runner of the Year. Kaahanui is the second Gatorade Hawaii Boys Cross Country Runner of the Year to be chosen from Kamehameha Schools-Kapalama High School.

The award, which recognizes not only outstanding athletic excellence, but also high standards of academic achievement and exemplary character demonstrated on and off the racecourse, distinguishes Kaahanui as Hawaii's best high school boys cross country runner. Now a finalist for the prestigious Gatorade National Boys Cross Country Runner of the Year award to be announced in January, Kaahanui joins an elite alumni association of past state award-winners in 12 sports, including Ryan Hall (1999-00, 2000-01, Big Bear HS, Calif.), Derek Jeter (1991-92, Kalamazoo HS, Mich.), Candace Parker (2001-02, Naperville Central HS, Ill.), Kevin Garnett (1992-93, Maudlin HS, S.C.), Abby Wambach (1997-98, Our Lady of Mercy, N.Y.) and Mark Sanchez (2004-05, Mission Viejo HS, Calif.).

The 5-foot-10, 125-pound senior raced to his second straight individual state championship this past season with a time of 15:47.51, leading the Warriors to a state title as a team. The state's returning Gatorade Boys Cross Country Runner of the Year, Kaahanui was the fastest Hawaii competitor at the 2013 Nike Cross Nationals Northwest Regional championships, crossing the line in 79th place in 17:01.6. He also won the Interscholastic League of Honolulu title, breaking the tape in 16:08.08.

Kaahanui has maintained a B average in the classroom. He has volunteered locally on behalf of charity road races and in association with multiple community clean-up initiatives.

"Davis Kaahanui was truly dominant this year and he is a humble kid," said Jack Kuo, head coach at Iolani High. "Few runners who come through Hawaii are as graceful a runner as he is. As a runner myself, it really was a joy to watch him run."

Kaahanui remains undecided upon a collegiate destination.

The Gatorade Player of the Year program annually recognizes one winner in the District of Columbia and each of the 50 states that sanction high school football, girls volleyball, boys and girls cross country, boys and girls basketball, boys and girls soccer, baseball, softball, and boys and girls track & field, and awards one National Player of the Year in each sport. The selection process is administered by the Gatorade high school sports leadership team in partnership with USA TODAY High School Sports, which work with top sport-specific experts and a media advisory board of accomplished, veteran prep sports journalists to determine the state winners in each sport.

Two time winner Kaahanui joins Gatorade Hawaii Boys Cross Country Runners of the Year Troy Esaki (2011-12, Iolani School), Jordan Thibodeau (2010-11, Kamehameha Schools-Kapalama High School), Pierce Murphy (2009-10, Island School), and Bryce Jenkins (2008-09 & 2007-08, Leilehua) as athletes who have won the cross country award since its inception in 2007.
